

LXINGTON PRESBYTERY.—The Presbytery of Lexington met at Harrisonburg, Va., on the 16th inst. This body embraces the counties of Rockbridge, Augusta, Rockingham, and some adjacent counties in West Virginia, and has thirty ministers and thirty-nine churches. Rev. Samuel Brown delivered the opening sermon, and Rev. William S. White, of Lexington, was chosen Moderator.

The subject which excited the most interest was the relations of the Presbyterian Church in the South to those in the North, from whom they separated. The committee having this matter in hand presented two reports, agreeing in sentiment but differing much in length and particularly. The more elaborate one, read, though not written, by Colonel Preston, representative of the Lexington church, was, after considerable amendment, adopted.

From this it appears that the great fault found with the Northern General Assembly is its violation of a principle of the Presbyterian Confession of Faith, in one place stated thus: "Synods and councils are to handle and conclude nothing but that which is ecclesiastical, and are not to intermeddle with civil affairs which concern the Commonwealth unless by way of humble petition in cases extraordinary." The General Assembly in the United States required all its members to submit to their ecclesiastical interpretation of the doctrine of State rights and of slavery. This change of a religious body into a political meeting necessitated the withdrawal of the Southern part of the Presbyterian Church, and the continued political character of that professedly ecclesiastical body prevents a re-union. The document referred to details a number of instances in which this attempt to regulate civil matters by a church court has led to decisions and doctrines thought to be injurious. The Northern Assembly has gone so far as to resolve to wrest the Southern Church property from its legitimate owners whenever a few members can be found in a church willing to hold it under that Assembly's jurisdiction. Against this the Presbytery protested, and warned the churches under its care.—Richmond Republic.
